FAMILY FINDINGS will begin the 7th year of publication with the January 1975 issue. Memberships are due and payable the 1st of January each year. Dues started at $5.00 and we have been able to hold them at that price until now. Beginning with your renewal your dues will be $6.00. We could not continue to publish your Quarterly without this increase and feel sure you understand this with the high cost of paper and printing. If you find just one tid-bit of information that will enable you to complete a line you are working on, it will be more than worth the entire cost of your dues and will have perhaps saved you a trip and many hours searching records. I have appreciated the help of all who have contributed materials during the two years I have served as your Editor. I have doubly appreciated those who did typing for me. I could not have completed a single issue without their help.

Your new officers will be announced in the next issue.

Cyrus Sykes

Eliza Hollingsworth Sykes

Jonas Sykes

d 1 Sept 1834

age 36 yrs 6 mo 7 das

These 3 stones were there when I was a child but only Cyrus remains.

Grandmother told me that when she and granddaddy Jesse Edwin Sikes moved back to the home place after the War Between the States, the 3 stones were stacked as doorsteps. She returned them to the Cemetery as Grandfather remembered them. He told her that prior to their moving to Gibson Co. there was other stones, also some Sand stones.

The following four pages was sent in by member, James Corbitt. Martin, Tennessee with this note:

"I am inclosing a copy of Alliene's grandmother's Diary during the years 1870-71 while a student at MCFI there in Jackson. Wish we could identify a lot of the persons whom she mentions in the diary. Maybe someone can help identify them."

We are only publishing a part of the Diary. If the readers are interested the rest will be published in the next issue.

L. J. Stribling's Journal

- Mar 10 - Her Brother. Return home from church with Uncle H. (Hu Anderson)
- Mar 11 - Saturday. Stay at home make handkerchiefs till dinner expect to go to see Mollie Tomlinson but I am disappointed on account of rain. Grand Pa Stribling come this morning staid all day & all night. Cousin Ervin Rlear (?) come in the evening but went off on the 5 o'clock train. Rained all evening. I am not well at all.
- Mar 12 - Sunday. Have prayer. Caught at Annie & A for being so late. Go to S. School with Aliene. (Her sister, later Mrs. Hawkins) Say my lesson to Mrs Woodard my teacher then talk with Sallie Hall & Sue Woodard. Go over & talk with Mollie Mitchell & Sallie Brooks. Go into the Library with Hate (?) Harper for the first time. Speak to Mr R. Chester for the first time in my life. He took off my Bible and I told him "to give it to me". Go up in the Church with Mollie Tomlinson. Hear a sermon from Mr Heard. F. B. was there. Laugh a great deal at Mollie T. about looking at Bush Persons. Come on from Church with M. Lane. After dinner return to singing with Aliene & Annie (her sisters). Laugh more than I ever did before at singing. Laughing at Hollie Binford & Mollie T. See F. B. again. Annie goes to sleep and I laugh at her and she gets very sick. Talk to Hallie Binnford little sister. M. T. & M. Lane comes home with me to take a walk but Ma will not let me go. So they go back home. Uncle Neal & Aunt L. A. came up on the train. after supper go with Uncle N. & Aunt L. to the Methodist Church. Sit opposite to W. T. & W. Thesis (?). Have a heap of fun run over a dog. Come home retire early.
- Mar 13 - Go to School. Miss one in Etymolog. 2 in farimiliar (?) Science take up a new StudyHistory of France very small but very hard. Nothing unusual have a gay time with H. F. & W. P. M. T. come home. Aunt L is still here in the evening. (P.S.) Mollie Tomlinson asked me to let her march with me at Ex. As soon as I get home go right into Uncle H. room and who is there but Mr. E. C. I feel quite embarrassed. Practice after supper. Aunt E. Anderson comes over (after supper) brings Frank with her. I come up stairs and eat coconut with the boys. Study hard retire late.
- Mar 14 - Rise early study before breakfast. Know my Etymology but in the evening miss 2 in Farmiliar Science. At dinner get an introduction to Judge Freeman see W. F. as we was coming home to dinner. In the evening after I come home read one of Luke's Love letters. Ma and Aunt Lizzie is gone down in town & Aunt Lifies(?) baby is sick but is better Nities is very sick go to see it it is dangerous Ma sits up there all night. Sleep with Aunt Lizzie.

- Mar 15 - Go to school know my Etymology lesson. See W. F. going on in the morning to school. Know my Familiar Science (perfect in all my lessons). Take a Music lesson & a new piece. Give some flowers to Lula B. for Mr Willie Battle. Have quite a lively time coming home to dinner with Hattie. but still livlier in the evening coming home in the rain. M. Lane comes under my umbrella we have off our bonnets me(t) Mr S. Hays & Whitehead I accidentally hit them both with my umbrella ask them to excuse me, it was just pouring down rain. Change my dress after I get home. Aunt L is still here Come home in the rain next evening too. Correct in Familiar S. Take a Music Lesson. At dinner time go up in town with Hattie & Cora go to all the stores have a talk with W. Pope. This is the 17th I put it down wrong.
- Mar 16 - Go to school nothing unusual. I got the days mixed up.
- Mar 18 - Saturday. Stay at home in the morning with Aunt L. She is in bed sick. Vetia's baby is quite sick. After dinner go over to Aunt Ellen Harris's & get some flowers. Have them brought home & sit ~~and~~ them out. Have J. Lancaster & J. Lambert Jennie L. L. Campbell & T. Thesis (?) all come to see me at the same time.
- Mar 19 - Go to Sunday School. Then go up in Church. Sit with Callie Gates & Mollie T. After dinner go back to singing with The. B. Folk with Hallie B. Lend him my Gold pencil. Then after singing take a walk with Mr Tomlinson go up by Judge Freeman. Cora tells me that Hattie is sick. Go to Church at night with she & Alliene. Aunt Lizzie stays in bed all day.
- Mar 20 - Monday. Go to School. Know my E. lesson. See W. F. (or F.) as I came home to dinner not enjoy coming home much for Hattie & Cora are not there.
- Mar 21 - Go to School. Take a Music Lesson & a new piece. Go to Mrs Fatten with Fannie Theus after some Music. See W. Freeman. Miss Morris offers me the honorable seat upon the Rostum because I missed 2 in Etymology. Hattie & Cora are absent today.
- Mar 22 - Go to School. Know my Etymology Lesson. Say it to Capt. Jonas Miss Lane is sick. Have a heap of fun with M. Tomlinson.
- Mar 23 - Know my E. lesson Miss Lane is still sick. Commence new study (name) Phasal Geography. Correct in all my lessons. Come home to dinner. Carry a letter to M. Mitchell from Mr. S. Jackson ~~and~~ read it after she read it. In the evening after School go to Bro. Pettus with A. Lancaster, J. Lambert & Jennie Lambert. to see Willie after we get there F. Theus & C. Gates came. Have quite a nice time find out that T. Binford is a second cousin to A. L.

- Mar 24 - Friday and I am so glad. Not recite any E. L. but I am perfect in all the rest. Carry a letter to Dora Jarrett from Mr. S. Congo. She lets me read it. Miss Lane taught this evening. Willie Pettus came to School this evening. Hattie & Cora came a while this morning for the first time this week. Hattie told me that Willie F. said I wrote something on the fence as I went to School one morning. But I think it was him. I wrote a composition on "Flowers" this week to Mr Bivens (?).
- Mar 25 - Rise early find Ma very sick. Make a fire. Stay at home all morning. It is drizzling rain. Sew on my old corset and wait on Ma all morning. Read the History of Female Mormons in the evening. Ma is a little better (in eve). Thad Correther & M. Savage stays all night here. Mist of rain all day.
- Mar 26 - Sunday. Raining but go to S. School. Sue Woodard hears our lesson Mrs. Woodard is gone to Trenton. Have singing after S. School. I sit oposite to "H. B.". Go up into Church with Mollie T. Sit with her & Sallie Hall. See T. B. Hear the Mr. R. Persons said that he was going to speak to me Monday morning if he met me. Aliens, Luke & Ma are all sick to night. I could not go to Church to night on account of rain. I have got a very severe cold myself. Retire early.
- Mar 27 - Awakened very early by Aliens see her very sick. Ma is better but Luke is worse. Ma went to the breakfast table. Stay at home all day & wait on Ma, Luke & Aliens. Ma & Luke is worse but Aliens is better. In the evening receive a note from M. Tomlinson Uncle Hugh is gone over to stay with Uncle Jim A. He is very sick too. Read some this evening. Receive a note from M. Tomlinson.
- Mar 28 - Stay at home all day and wait on Ma & Luke. At dinner receive a note from M. T. & Annie Lancaster. Ans them immediately. Uncle Jim is no better. Talk with family awhile then practice. Receive a note from O. Warfield. Have a great deal of fun with it. It is written in baby lannguage. Go to bed late, but do not stay there long, get up and see (2) two houses burned down.
- Mar 29 - Rise tolerable early find it raining. Do not go to School. I stay in bed all morning nearly on account of headache. I practiced some & read the History of the United States half through. Uncle Jim is no better. Go in & sit with the Boys till Ma comes.
- Mar 30 - Go to School. All of them ran to meet me & seemed glad to see me. It is Thursday. Come home to dinner with Cora F. Hattie is sick. Go up into Miss Temples Room. She is very sick. Go in company with W. Pettus. See E. C. as I came home in eve.

- Mar 31 - Find it raining but go to School. Hear the reports read. Do not like mine much. Take a Music lesson. No school in the eve. Stay at home it rained all evening. Uncle John Anderson came. After supper hear Uncle "Hugh" read some in Tribune, while I was fixing Grand Ma's quilt pieces. Then come up and talk with "Ike".
- Apr 1 - Rise early it is dark & gloomy. Stay at home and sew till dinner. After go & get M. Lane go to see Mattie Tomlinson from there to see Sallie Hall. She was not at home. from there to see Nannie Brooks. Stay a little then go to see Hattie & Cora. to all the places in company with M. Lane & Mollie T. Hattie give me her picture. See W. T. Come home get my S. S. Lesson.
- Apr 2 - Sunday. Go to S. School. Say a verse. Go up to Church with M. L. & C. Gates. After dinner go to Mr Tomlinson to see Mollie go with Uncle John Anderson & Alliene. We go from there to singing. after we get there awhile W. W. P. come and sit down me. Was coming and sit beside me but Uncle John cast (?) him out. W. T. was there. After singing, W. W. P. engaged my company. We take a walk go to the Depot then up by the Institute. It plagued him very much because they made signs and laughed at me he gets a shamed of his stick. he gave it to me. I carry it all the way for him. He told me "that I troubled him very much" and his reason was he couldnot see me often enough. and several other things not worth writing. (he comes home with me). At night go to the Presbyterian Church with Ma & Luke. See Helen Barnes & (T?)ena Hagett talk with them awhile. Hear a splendid Sermon from Rev. Hanes.
- Apr 3 - Go to School. Perfect in all my lessons. Talk with Sallie Hall about W. W. P. before school. Cora Freeman was taken very sick in the Algebra Class. Second recess I go up to see her (in Miss Tempie Summerville room). Hattie is there stay with her and Cora a while half hour write then come home (at dinner) with Hattie. She carries my Music home with her So I did not practice. At playtime go with Fannie Theus to see Miss Marianna Jno Jones former house it is perfectly beautiful. Alliene told Luke what W. W. P. said to me. After supper go in & talk with Uncle "Hugh".
- Apr 3,4 Go to School. Miss one in Etymology. Take a Music Lesson (but not a new piece). Correct in all my other lessons. Accused (by Miss Lero Morris) of making tatten in my music room (but I did not do it). She took down all the girls names that did make it & is going to take off 10 (ten) failures off of their report. The second part of the Vocal Class joined ours this evening. Hattie and Cora was not there today. I returned to dinner with in company with A. Lancaster. In the evening after School Miss J. Williams come over to get one of the Boys to sleep over there. Luke & Ike go. After Supper go & talk with Uncle "Hugh". Cousin John Wisdom comes.

- Apr 4 - Go to School. Go up into Sallie Blake's room before school. Do not miss any in Etymology. Correct in everything. Hattie come to school today. Go in and sing with Miss Temples Class.
- Apr 5 - Wednesday. Go to School. Know my E. L. Correct in everything. Talk with Willie Pettus, right smart today. In the evening Mollie T. comes home with me we play Celebrities (With cards). I enjoy her company very much indeed. Cousin John Wisdom is going stay all night here. The Vanhook murder is about to die out they have turned the old Negro woman out off jail but made her pay ($1200) Twelve Hundred dollars. The suspension is resting upon her son now.
- Apr 6 - Go to School. Miss Lane does not hear our Etymology Lesson. I take a Music lesson & take a new piece (Called) "Lilly of the Valley". Correct in all my lessons. Come home to dinner in company with Hattie. Laugh a great deal in Miss Annie Garland room (She is one of the teachers) at one of the girls saying Miss Lane eat Devil's Hams. Pull off my Flannel Shirt retire early.
- Apr 7 - Friday. Go to School. Correct in all my lessons & deportment. Go up to see Lula Brooks before School took in. Wait at the corner for Hattie a long time but she does not come. Hear this morning that there was a new Mr Anderson, son of J.W.A. & Ellen A. therefore he is my Cousin. Come home in the eve. with Hattie & Miss Fannie Jackson (her Cousin) have a great deal of fun. In the evening after School take a walk with Cora & M Lane
- Apr 8 - Saturday. Stay at home all morning hem over my old dress. I have made a mistake in this book about the number of the days. Well in the evening start to go up in town meet Mollie T. coming to stay all eve. with me. but we go on up in town. Go to Roberson & Botts get me 2 two dresses one Calico and one Japanese Plaid. Go to Glasses talk with W.W.P. a little then go up into Dr. Spencer's Office. See W. Hays. Go into Mrs Tongerson's (?) try on some hats but not pleased with any much. Mollie comes back with me. Uncle Tom Anderson is here very sick.
- Apr 9 - Sunday. Go to S. School. Sue Woodard hears our lesson. Mr. Griffin talks a while I like him very much. Go up into Church with Mollie T. & Sallie H.. Nobody there hardly. H. Ford sit behind me so I could not see him. It rains very hard but they send me an umbrella so Aliene & myself go to Aunt E. Harris's for dinner. Stay there till its quit raining then come home and go to the same church to hear a lecture from Mr Griffin hear a splendid one and enjoy it very much. Laugh a great deal at H.B. and talk with him some. As we went to go down stairs Mollie Falls (?) W. Pope engages her company goes home with her. It is just pouring down rain. See L. B. he smiles. Uncle Hugh goes home and gets an umbrella for Aliene and myself. Meet Miss Lula West do not know her. She tell me who she is. I feel quite ashamed of myself. I do not enjoy the rest of the evening because they tease me so much about Mr L. B. Cousin Frank comes over he teases me too.

RICHARD BUCKLE

THE ARTIST seizes the moment to make it immortal; the Antiquarian piles up knowledge of the past; the Diarist hoards experience; the Historian looks for a pattern; the Genealogist links up mankind.

Sir Anthony Wagner quotes C S Lewis: 'Human beings look separate because you see them walking about separately. But then we are so made that we can see only the present moment. If we could see the past, then of course it would look different. For there was a time when every man was part of his mother, and (earlier still) part of his father as well: and when they were part of his grandparents. If you could see humanity spread out in time, as God sees it, it would not look like a lot of separate things dotted about. It would look like one single growing thing—rather like a very complicated tree. Every individual would appear connected with every other.' 'It is this vision of history,' writes Sir Anthony approvingly, 'that the genealogist feebly seeks to realise'.

The purposes of Sir Anthony's marvellous and invigorating book*, which was first published in 1960 and is now re-issued with new material, are firstly to help those who are 'bitten with a genealogical curiosity which they do not know how to satisfy' and secondly to aid students of history. 'There is now . . . a truly modern school of historians, especially linked in England with Sir Louis Namier, which builds up the picture of a former age round the descriptions of individuals and of their political and social relationships.' Indeed, who can conceive of a history of the 15th century without at least one family tree?

In my youth the study of genealogy and heraldry was considered 'Victorian' and snobbish and people made the sort of jokes about it that they made about the paintings of Burne-Jones. And yet is it not a laudable form of snobbery to wish to connect oneself to great men of the past, for if a connection is proved one is the more likely to seek to emulate them? And is not anything which renders more vivid the study of history an adjunct to education—and what could focus our attention more firmly than to realise it is our own ancestors whom we read about competing on a battlefield or sparring in parliament? I think the attitude of most people is different today, and that they realise the study of genealogy is an enrichment of life. After all, in a sense, our future lies in our past.

I am bound to consider the impulse to make genealogical trees a natural one, because before I was 10 I set out to trace my descent from Adam via Imperial Rome. Alas! there were unbridgable gaps between the Jews of the Old Testament and the patrician Roman families, and between Rome and the earliest English kings: the great work was soon abandoned. In 1939 and 1940, during the phoney war, my interest was revived when, in an attempt to fill the vacuum of existence, I set out to plan an armorial book-plate. I wanted to get it right once and for all, and because I thought there might be some quarterings to include I applied to the College of Arms. I well remember the shock of being awoken by the telephone one morning to hear a distinguished voice announcing 'This is Bluemantle Pursuivant speaking'. (I should explain for the sake of the uninitiated that if you marry an heiress—that is to say, a lady with no brothers—your descendants are entitled to quarter her arms with your own in perpetuity. In this way a coat-of-arms, going with the blood, survives the extinction of a surname.) There proved to be too many quarterings for a book-plate. The design looked too fussy, and I never had the book-plate made.

I should add that these researches by the College of Arms had to be paid for step by step, and the total achievement of 92 quarterings was then painted in the records of the College for posterity at so much a quartering. I am not even allowed to go and look at it without paying a fee. Twenty years ago I learned on enquiry that I could have a copy made—with yellow paint substituting for gold—for £50. I am still meaning to have it done, but I bet the price has gone up. The College must be kept going somehow.

So if, making good use of the many sources of genealogical research indicated by Sir Anthony, you compile for yourself an elaborate and meticulous pedigree, you need not expect the College of Arms to accept and register it unless you pay cash for them to check every link in the chain. Still, you will have had your fun—and may even have made a valuable contribution to our country's records.

Some genealogical games. Are you descended from all the three sons of Edward III who left issue? From how many of the great men at the court of Elizabeth I can you trace a descent? Cecil, Essex, Southampton, Walsingham?—you can't be descended from Sir Walter Raleigh, but you can from his sister. From how many characters in Shakespeare's plays? The really grand thing is to be descended from Henry VII, who married the daughter of Edward IV. This is because, odd as it may seem, until this century, when Royalty began to marry commoners and have non-royal descendants, unless you were a Royalty yourself and probably foreign, Henry VII was the last English king from whom it was possible to be legitimately descended. There were 10,283 traceable descents from Henry's younger daughter Mary, Queen of France and Duchess of Suffolk, in 1903.

Sir Anthony's second and third chapters are called 'The Roots' and 'English and Norman'. In the former he summarises the Anglo-Saxon, Viking, Celtic and French immigrations. In the latter he discusses four English, pre-conquest families—Arden, Berkeley, Ingoldsby, Stanley—and five Norman ones—Giffard, Tony, Gresley, Clifford, Shirley; besides certain Norman families who settled in Wales, Ireland or Scotland—notably Fitzgerald and Stewart.

In other chapters Sir Anthony analyses the structure of society at different stages in our history, showing how classes tend to merge; discusses the rise and fall of families; studies later immigrants—Flemings, Dutch, Germans, Huguenots, Jews and Gypsies (his own ancestor Melchior Wagner, the son of a hatter in C. burg, came to England in 1709); describes the settling of British people in Ireland, America, the West Indies, Canada, Australia; lists the existing records which make further research possible—state, ecclesiastical, parish or private; and gives a brief history of genealogical research.

Americans have in the past been even more assiduous in proving their pedigrees than the recent English; so those of old family—and 19 settlers in New England before 1650 were descended from Edward I—may know the facts as well as Sir Anthony Wagner. But I cannot doubt that there will be many who, after reading his account of the colonists in Maine, Virginia, Maryland and Massachusetts, will be inspired to further study.

It is of interest that many Australians have been hesitant to derive their ancestry from convicts. Sir Anthony deplores this, rightly pointing out that the offences for which men were transported in the last century would now seem nothing to be ashamed of. 'For the genealogist a convict ancestor has the outstanding merit that his collision with the law will be the subject of record, so that far more personal information may be available about him than for the average of settlers.'

It will be evident to the reader that English Genealogy gives both instruction and pleasure. It is no doubt a classic in its field, and I should say one of the most important books of our time. Let me end with three curiosities, which particularly appealed to me.

The first is a genealogical tree connecting Dr Johnson laterally with Lord Chesterfield. Johnson's first cousin, the Revd Cornelius Ford, married Judith, daughter by his second wife of Ambrose Crowley, Quaker of Stourbridge, who, by his first wife Mary Hall was great-grandfather of a Mary Crowley who married Sir William Stanhope, KB, brother of Philip, Earl of Chesterfield.

The second concerns two famous stores, Catesby's of Tottenham Court Road and Bentall's of Kingston-on-Thames. The accounts of how the present Catesbys derive from a William Catesby, 'who acquired rights in the manor of Ladbroke, Warwickshire, in 1349 when landowners were hard hit by the Black Death', and of how Mr L E Rowan Bentall, chairman and joint managing director of his firm, descends from one who held the manor of Acton Burnell in Shropshire in the 13th century, prove fascinating studies in the ups and downs of family history.

I want to introduce my third curiosity with what may appear to be a digression. I received last week a letter from a friend who is an officer in the Royal Fleet Auxiliary. He wrote: 'The Pitcairn islanders came swarming out to the ship, bringing their wood-carvings, postage stamps and all sorts of delicious fruit—melon, pineapple, oranges, tangerines, pears and tiny, luscious bananas (called plantains, I think). It looked lovely, but we only stayed for three hours and nobody went ashore except the doctor, who had to attend a Christian with a broken leg. They are a picturesque bare-footed lot, but I think life must be hell, what with no alcohol and Seventh Day Adventism, but perhaps not if you have never known different.' Sir Anthony Wagner tells us: 'Fletcher Christian, the leader of the nine mutineers from the ship Bounty, who in 1790 sought refuge from the penalties of the law on remote Pitcairn Island in the south eastern Pacific, belonged to a well known Manx and Cumbrian family and was descended from Edward I through Joan of Acre (Countess of Suffolk). The settlers of Pitcairn brought with them eleven Tahitian women and six Tahitian men. The Tahitian men left no children and the later inhabitants of Pitcairn sprang from the English sailors and their Tahitian wives. Through inter-marriage a large proportion of the whole Pitcairn population and of the descendants on Norfolk Island of those who went there from Pitcairn in 1856 are now descendants of Fletcher Christian, so that it is doubtful whether any British community contains so large a proportion of descendants of our early kings.'
